NORTH CANTON North Canton City School District will have a community resource night for all Stark County families from 5 to 7 p.m. Feb. 28 in the Hoover High School commons.

Those attending will be able to talk to professionals about available local resources and view “Resilience: The Biology of Stress and the Science of Hope,” an award-winning film about childhood stress and the new movement to treat and prevent stress. The film will be shown from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Organizations to be represented at the resource night include CommQuest, family counselors, the North Canton City Schools CARE Team family support specialists, and Stark County Mental Health and Addiction Recovery.
